

Covid-19 Protocols for The Food as Medicine Summit

Thank you for taking the time to read these protocols. Your safety is our top priority and we aim to make this event as Covid-19 secure as possible. The final protocols will be sent to all attendees 2 weeks prior to the event.

These protocols have been designed to follow best practice and local regulations for Bay Area, CA. As the course of the pandemic evolves, it may be necessary to change these protocols.

Ticketing and attendance limitations

The Bay Area requires us to limit the number of attendees to ensure social distancing. A finite number of tickets will be available for in-person attendance. We will advise our customers when the remaining ticket availability is low, and will operate a waiting list once the event is sold out. We will not allow the attendance limit to be exceeded.

Cleaning and disinfection

The venue will be operating enhanced cleaning protocols including regular cleaning and the use of virucides.

Ventilation

We are currently conducting a review of the ventilation of all parts of the venue. Wherever possible, windows and doors will be open.

Vaccination and Negative test results

Our current plans are to require attendees to be either vaccinated against Covid-19, or provide evidence of a negative Covid-19 test. This is under review. We are in the process of organising and confirming a pre-event testing procedure that will be in accordance with local and national guidelines with further details to be announced nearer the time.

Personal responsibility

We respectfully ask all attendees to regularly wash the hands with soap and water and hand sanitizer. Currently, we are not planning on making face coverings compulsory, however, disposable surgical face masks will be available for those who want them.

Contact tracing

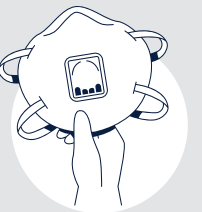

All attendees and staff will be asked to alert the organisers of any Covid-19 symptoms, or positive Covid-19 test. The organisers will alert all attendees if notifications are received during or for 10 days following the event. Personal confidentiality will be maintained.

Flexible ticketing

In-person ticket holders can switch their ticket to an online ticket, subject to the terms and conditions sent with confirmation of registration. Please do not attend the event if you have been told to self-isolate or have symptoms of Covid-19.

Compliance

By registering for an in-person ticket, you agree to adhere to the protocols in place at the time of the event.
